Mrs. Amanda, beloved wife of John Sigmon parted this life Monday Morning at 11 A. M. to make her future home in heaven.

Mrs. Sigmon has been an invalid for many years and about two weeks ago she was stricken with pneumonia and died at 11 A. M. Monday. She was a devoted Christian having confessed her sins many years ago. She was a member of the Baptist church and had many years ago requested Rev. A. J. Pike to preach her funeral, which he did in a very impressive way.

Mrs. Sigmon was certainly a good woman and will be missed very much by every body that knew her.

After a very able funeral discourse by Rev. A. J. Pike at the Baptist church she was peacefully laid to rest in the Baptist Church Cemetery alongside of her daughter who had gone on before her several years ago.

She leaves a kind and loving husband and one son and two grand-daughters besides a large number of sorrowing friends.

Let us all strive to be better that we may be able to meet this Christian woman in Heaven. Mrs. Sigmon was 57 years of age.

Egbert Saylers has a sister Hazel five years old, and has been living at Livingston with her step-mother. He decided to bring his sister to Louisville to the Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home. How he knew what to do with his sister or that there was a Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home here, no one knows, but he did, and Saturday night he spirited his little sister away and took her to Corbin and at midnight boarded a Knoxville division Louisville and Nashville passenger train.

In order to avoid a hitch in the plans, he decided that a sleeping car would be the best place to ride and, telling the Pullman conductor that he had a sleeping car ticket he went into the car. But he didn't have the ticket. He knew that his relatives would go through the train at Livingston, and this was his way of fooling them. His father and mother are both dead, and his father was a Mason. He therefore thought it a good plan to wear his father's emblem of the order. And he did so, but concealed it from view. True to his prediction, a relative, so he says, boarded the train to look for the children, but did not think to look in the sleeping car. So they continued on their way unmoored, but without money. R. T. DeSpain, of Louisville, and C. A. Linchelle, of Central City both Masons, at this time were called to the attention of the boy and his sister by the boy, who showed his father's emblem. It was then in the early hours of morning and Hazel was fast asleep but Egbert was as wide awake as you find, them, always alert for the welfare of his little sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Smith have returned home from a weeks stay in the country.—Albert Hiatt of Hiatt Ky., has been employed in The Citizens Bank as book keeper. Judging from appearance he will make a good one—Capt. W. I. Dooty of Corbin attended the funeral of Mrs. John Sigmon Tuesday.—Owen Cass is visiting his sister Mrs. L. B. Hilton at Stanford.—John D. Pike of Lebanon Junction is at home for a few days.—Urban Cass has returned from a three days visit to Stanford and Rowland.—Wednesday was R. R. official day here Supt Snyder Road Master Burns, Master of Trains Dilley, Supt. Teather, Chief Disp. Lemons, Civil Engineer, Watts all spent Wednesday night in our city.—The supper given by the new officers just elected by the Masons at this place was a success in every respect about 25 masons and their wives, sisters and sweethearts enjoyed the supper fine.

Mrs. Aminda, beloved wife of John Sigmon parted this life Monday Morning at 11 A. M. to make her future home in heaven.

Mrs. Kinchelle and De Spain took charge of the children and brought them to Louisville, and Mr. Kinchelle gives the following account:

The boy, the name of whom is Egbert Saylers, as he gives it to me was with his sister, Hazel. The understanding of the world and its ways as possessed by him I think is remarkable. He told me relatives had threatened to notify the police at Louisville if he ran away and that they knew that he proposed to do so. He suggested that he get off the train at South Louisville which he did, as it might be that the police would be waiting at Tenish street Station. We took a Fourth avenue car and transferred to West Chestnut street en route to the home of the boy's aunt here, where he will stay until we can get him transferred to the Orphan's Home. ### ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce G. T. JOHNSON as a candidate for County Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party.

The jury in the Powers case was unable to agree on a verdict and was discharged by Judge Morris, who overruled a motion for bail and fixed July 6 as the date for the next trial. The jury stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction. Powers' friends and attorneys have taken steps toward requesting a pardon from Gov. Wilson, and a long telegram was sent the Chief Executive, informing him how the jury stood. It is said petitions will be circulated throughout Kentucky and the United States in the hope that thousands of persons will sign, asking Gov. Wilson to issue a pardon. Ten of the jurors signed an affidavit stating that from the evidence they do not believe Jim Howard fired the shot that killed Gov. Goebel.

At a conference between Gov. Wilson, R. K. Smith and H. A. Walker, representing the American Tobacco Company, held in the Governors office, Mr. Smith agreed to arrange a meeting between the executive Committee of the Burley Tobacco Society and President James E. Duke, of the American Tobacco Company. State Senator J. W. Newman has prepared a resolution which was introduced on the first day of the present session of the General assembly for the appointment of a committee of seven members to investigate the tobacco conditions thoroughly and report the causes for the recent disorders.

BROWN MEMORIAL SCHOOL

Owing to business engagements of the principal, Brown Memorial will not open till Feb. 3rd instead of Jan 20th. There will be no spring intermission and the eighteen week's term will close the first week in June as last year, the annual picnic being on the 4th.

Two other schools have been opened in town. Every child has a chance to attend somewhere, and at a small cost. Hence the primary department can be cut down without harm to anyone. Seventy-five was a larger number than could be comfortably cared for last year; but forty will be admitted this term. Other departments will be treated in the same manner. Parents who have shown them selves in earnest with regard to the advancement of their children receive preference.

Note the following taken from the catalogue on expenses:

In order that the work may be less hampered and that the principal may have more time to relieve the financial burden of the Board, which has many other schools throughout our country to assist, tuition must be paid in advance or secured by note, as in other schools on the opening day of each term. No deduction will be made for loss of time on entering, or for withdrawal before the close of the session, except in cases of protracted illness.

PROBABILITY OF A DEADLOCK

Open Rumors of a Break From the Beckham Banks Creates Engrossing Situation at the Opening of Kentucky's General Assembly.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 7.—For many reasons the present session of the Kentucky legislature promises to be a memorable one, and Kentucky has had several memorable legislatures, particularly in 1884, in 1896 and in 1900.

Of course, the chief interest centers in the race for United States senator and the possibility of a deadlock. Governor Beckham is the Democratic party for senator, but there have been persistent rumors that some of the Democratic senators and representatives will not vote for him. The legislature in joint ballot stands 73 Democrats to 65 Republicans, the senate having 22 Democrats and 16 Republicans, while the house has 51 Democrats and 49 Republicans. If as many as four Democrats refuse to vote for Beckham, a deadlock will result. It has been frequently asserted in the newspapers that this Democratic legislator or that one, would not support Beckham, but so far no one has openly announced that he would vote against him.

On the Republican side it seems to be conceded that ex-Governor W. O. Bradley will be nominated to oppose Beckham, and some of the Republican leaders have declared positively that the house would be organized by them and not by the Democrats. If this be true then a deadlock is sure to result.

The first vote for senator will not be taken till Jan. 21, although the legislature convenes on Jan. 7. The senate and house will vote separately in their respective chambers on Jan. 21 and will meet in joint session in the house the following day to ratify the election if someone was elected, or to take another ballot if no one was elected the day before.

Each side is warily watching the other now and neither side is doing any talking as to plans, but each is willing to take advantage of any mistake made by the others. The deplorable feature of it all is that it is almost sure to bring about much bitterness if a deadlock comes. There will be a number of contests for seats in the house filed by both Republicans and Democrats. These will be fought over bitterly, as the house is so close that one vote may decide the fate of every contestant for a seat, for if one contestant is seated he will naturally vote with his party to unseat others.

If one Democrat in the house refuses to vote with his party, the house will be deadlocked and cannot be organized till some other man deserts or the deserter comes back. In such an event James E. Stone, chief clerk of the last house, will preside, as the law makes it his duty to "call the house to order and preside until the speaker is elected." If a deadlock comes Mr. Stone will preside from day to day till someone "comes over" or "goes over" and votes for the "other fellow." If all the talk about a deadlock proves to be "moonshine," then W. J. Gooch, Democrat of Simpson county, will be elected speaker of the house and James E. Stone chief clerk.

There seems to be no chance of a deadlock in the senate, but that body will have its troubles as well as the house, if all indications are true. In 1896 when W. J. Worthington (Rep.) was Lieutenant governor, the majority of the senators were Democrats, so they passed a rule providing for a special committee to select all the standing committees of the senate. Therofore it had been the custom for the Lieutenant governor, who is ex-officio president of the senate, to appoint all the committees, probably for the reason that the Lieutenant governor and the majority in the senate had always been of the same political party, since the war.

It has been stated that the Democrats in the present senate would repeat what was done in 1896, as Wm. H. Cox, the present Lieutenant governor, is a R. publican. Cox has served two terms in the senate and has been very popular with the Democrats in that body, so it is possible that they may agree to let him appoint the committees. The senate and house meet today, but it is probable the standing committees will not be appointed before next Saturday or Monday, so it will be several days before it is determined who will name the senate committees.

One of the measures that will be bitterly fought over this session will be the bill or bills providing for redistricting the state into senatorial and representative districts. The Democratic court of appeals declared the redistricting of two years ago unconstitutional because of the unequal division of population, some of the districts having 12,000, while others had 40,000. The court went further and said the present districts were in reality unconstitutionally made up, but as the elections in them had been held for so many years, the act creating them would not now be declared unconstitutional, because it would be against public policy. It is always a hard fight to pass a satisfactory redistricting bill, even where one political party has a big majority, but it will be especially so this year because of the almost even division of the two parties in the legislature. As the present districts are considered to be to the advantage of the Democrats, it is presumed the Republicans will make the hardest fight to have new districts created that will give a more equal division of population.

It was expected two years ago that the present legislature would be able to hold its sessions in the handsome new statehouse, but no provision has yet been made for furnishing the new building and making it habitable. The building itself is very near completion, it being all under roof except a small part of the center dome, and much of the interior work is completed. It is expected that it will take another appropriation of $250,000 to pay for fitting up the new structure in proper style with desks, file-boxes, carpets, furniture, etc., and the present legislature will be asked to make the appropriation for that purpose. The total appropriations so far made for the new capitol amount to $1,250,000, which will complete it, all but the furnishings. According to the estimates of the state's financial officers, it will not be necessary to increase the rate of taxation to complete the new building, as no increase was made when the other appropriations were made, and especially as there is over a million dollar balance in the state treasury now.

Yesterday was "moving day" at the statehouse, all the new Republican officials taking charge, the Democrats retiring. In many of the offices where the work is necessarily complicated, a number of the old clerks will be retained for several months or until the new clerks get trained for the work. It is expected, however, that in six months all the Democratic clerks will be replaced by Republicans.

The attorney general under the present law is allowed no clerks or assistants, and is probably the hardest-worked official in the statehouse.

A strong effort will be made this session to have a law passed providing him with at least two assistants and a stenographer.

Governor Wilson has been having a strenuous time since his inauguration a month ago, and with office-seekers, "night-riders," and the coming of the legislature, he has not been "treading the primrose path of daliiance." The governor has some fads, but they are fads that are tempered with common sense. For instance, he says he will appoint no man to office who applies for it and simply signs the initials of his first name. That is, J. H. Smith will not be considered at all, but John H. Smith will be. He says he has quit talking politics now and is trying earnestly to be the governor for all the people and using every means in his power to enforce the people's laws that are on the statute books.

Much has been said about the governor being placed on the national ticket next year as a candidate for vice president, but he positively forbids any discussion of the subject. He says he has been elected to serve as governor for four years, and if he lives he purposes to carry out the contract made with the people last election day.

Probably the hardest nut the new governor will have to crack will be the settlement of the tobacco situation and the arrest and conviction of the "night riders" who have been destroying tobacco warehouses in Hopkinsville and Russellville. It is the general belief that under the present laws it will be almost impossible to indict or convict the "night riders," because the membership of the tobacco associations is so large that it will be almost impossible to get a jury that will not have several friends and fellow-members of the "night riders" on it. This being the case, the present legislature will be asked to evolve a new law by which that class of law-breakers may be reached and punished. Governor Wilson's recommendations along this line in his message to the legislature are strong and to the point. He seems to have set his heart on solving this question and is determined that the law shall be upheld and every man's property and life made secure from lawless groups of men who operate at night behind masks.

Governor Wilson has announced that he is in favor of all the state institutions being managed by non-partisan boards, and says he will not recommend that the legislature make any appropriation for any educational institution that is maintained by the state and managed by trustees who all belong to the same political party. As instance he cites the State College at Lexington, all of its trustees being Democrats. His recommendation along this line in his message to the legislature are strong and to the point. He seems to have set his heart on solving this question and is determined that the law shall be upheld and every man's property and life made secure from lawless groups of men who operate at night behind masks.

The temperance question will be another factor that will enter largely into this legislative session. A bill to extend the present county unit law so as to include every county in the state irrespective of the size of the cities it contains, will be presented early in the session, and it is believed the bill will be enacted. The liquor representatives will fight such a measure to the last.

A hat found on creek bank led to search made in the creek. The body was found about 300 yards below where his hat was found.

Berea BOOMING.

The winter term of Berea College opened New Year's Day with the largest attendance ever known in all departments. The Normal is particularly fine, with several new instructors, special work in Nature Study and Sciences and Practice Teaching and Theory far ahead of anything before known in Kentucky. The steam cookers have made the board as popular as it is cheap. Students are pouring in every day, and there are so many classes that everyone can be placed with others like himself and make more rapid progress. There are many bright entertainments on the program for this winter and the students are all looking forward to the Mountain Congress in Feb. as really more important than the meeting of the Legislature at Frankfort.

CARD OF THANKS.

Words cannot express our appreciation of those friends who have shared with us the lonely virgins by the bedside of our loved one. No sweeter memory can live in any heart than the memory of their untiring devotion to the one who has just left us. The waves of sorrow break upon every shore, and we can but hope that friends as true may gather around each one of them should sorrow invade their homes.

Mr. Vernon "Central" requests that telephone subscribers use the following system in calling for numbers, thus: six-one, for 61; double seven for 77; one-oh-nine, for 109; double one for 11; triple one, for 111; double-one two, for 112 etc. This system has been adopted by all principal exchanges and by its use business is facilitated and many errors and delays are avoided. Faulty enunciation of many telephone users in speaking numbers and the peculiarities of the phone make it necessary to use the above system to simplify and make calls plainer.
